Item 4: Advisory Business

A. Description of the Advisory Firm

Abundance Financial Coaching, LLC (hereinafter "AFC") is a Limited Liability Company organized in the State of Iowa.

The firm was formed in January 2015, and the principal owners are Ryan Michael Denman, Member & Chief Compliance Officer and Dennis Daniel Duffy, Managing Member.

B. Types of Advisory Services

Selection of Other Advisers

AFC recommends third-party investment advisers to manage all or a portion of the client's assets. Before selecting other advisers for clients, AFC will always ensure those other advisers are properly licensed or registered as an investment adviser. AFC conducts due diligence on any third-party investment adviser, which may involve one or more of the following: phone calls, meetings and review of the third-party adviser's performance and investment strategy. AFC then makes investments with a third-party investment adviser by investing with the third-party adviser. These investments may be allocated either through the third-party adviser's fund or through a separately managed account managed by such third party adviser on behalf of AFC's client. AFC will review the ongoing performance of the third-party adviser as a portion of the client's portfolio.

Portfolio Analysis (PDR) Services

AFC performs a Portfolio Diagnostic Review ("PDR") to review a prospective clients current portfolio and use it to provide a comparison to a recommended portfolio.

Services Limited to Specific Types of Investments

AFC generally limits its investment advice to mutual funds, fixed income securities, and equities. AFC always recommends modern-portfolio theory to all of its clients.

Educational Workshops

AFC holds regular and consistent workshops for prospective and existing clients. The workshop topics focus on a wide variety of topics including current events, portfolio information, and financial education.

Written Acknowledgement of Fiduciary Status

When we provide investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, we are fiduciaries within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests, so we operate under a special rule that requires us to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. Under this special rule's provisions, we must:

- Meet a professional standard of care when making investment recommendations (give prudent professional advice);
- Never put our financial interests ahead of yours when making recommendations (give loyal advice);
- Avoid misleading statements about conflicts of interest, fees, and investments;
- Follow policies and procedures designed to ensure that we give advice that is in your best interest;
- Charge no more than is reasonable for our services; and
- Provide you with full disclosure of conflicts of interest and how we mitigate them.

C. Client Tailored Services and Client Imposed Restrictions

AFC offers the same suite of services to all of its clients. However, specific client investment strategies and their implementation are dependent upon the client's current situation (income, tax levels, and risk tolerance levels). Clients may not impose restrictions in investing in certain securities or types of securities in accordance with their values or beliefs.

D. Wrap Fee Programs

A wrap fee program is an investment program where the investor pays one stated fee that includes management fees, transaction costs, fund expenses, and other administrative fees. AFC does not participate in any wrap fee programs.

E. Assets Under Management

The firm does not have any regulatory assets under management but has approximately $302,470,000.00 in assets under advisement as of December 2023.

Item 5: Fees and Compensation

A. Fee Schedule

Selection of Other Advisers Fees

AFC will direct advisory clients to the outside money management firm, Efficient Advisors, LLC. AFC will receive its standard fee as deducted by the third-party adviser. The fee will vary each billing period depending on fluctuations in the account's market value. The fees shared are negotiable and will not exceed any limit imposed by any regulatory agency.

AFC will specifically direct clients to Efficient Advisors, LLC. The annual fee schedule is as follows:

Total Assets	AFC's Fee	Third Party's Fee	Total Fee
First $500,000	0.88%	0.35%	1.23%
Next $500,000	0.50%	0.35%	0.85%
Next $1,000,000	0.40%	0.30%	0.70%
Next $2,000,000	0.40%	0.25%	0.65%
Next $6,000,000	0.25%	0.20%	0.45%
Over $10,000,000	0.25%	0.15%	0.40%

The fees are calculated as of the last business day of the prior month. Clients may terminate the agreement without penalty for a full refund of AFC's fees within five business days of signing the client contract. Thereafter, clients may terminate the client contract generally upon written notice.

Portfolio Analysis (PDR) Services

There is no fee for the Portfolio Diagnostic Review ("PDR") performed by AFC.

Educational Workshop Fees

There is no fee to attend these workshops.

B. Payment of Fees

Payment of Selection of Other Advisers Fees

AFC does not deduct its advisory fees. Fees are directly withdrawn by Efficient Advisors from the client's accounts with client's written authorization. Specifically, Efficient Advisors, calculates and has the client's custodian withdraw the fees based on the negotiated rate memorialized in the client contract; Efficient Advisors, LLC; then pays to AFC the entire advisory fee. Fees are paid monthly in advance.

AFC will ensure clients receive a statement from the custodian at least monthly, and send the qualified custodian written notice of the amount of the fee to be deducted from the client's account and verify that the qualified custodian sends invoices to the client. Clients will receive all account statements and billing invoices that are required in each jurisdiction, and they should carefully review those statements for accuracy. Clients are urged to compare the account statements they received from custodian with the reports and invoices they receive from AFC. Clients should promptly notify AFC with any discrepancies.

Fees are prorated for clients that agree to services in the middle of the billing month and the prior partial months prorated fees will be paid the following month along with its next month's fees.

C. Client Responsibility For Third Party Fees

Clients are responsible for the payment of all third party fees (i.e. custodian fees, brokerage fees, mutual fund fees, transaction fees, etc.). Those fees are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by AFC. Please see Item 12 of this brochure regarding broker-dealer/custodian.

D. Prepayment of Fees

AFC collects fees monthly, in advance. Should the client terminate the agreement with AFC mid-month, AFC will refund the portion of the unearned, prepaid fee to the client. With respect to Efficient Advisors, LLC's fee, the fees are not refunded if the client terminates contract after fees have been deducted from the client's account payable during that month. Clients can terminate the contract before fees are deducted from the client's account which is usually 7-15 days from the beginning of the month.

E. Outside Compensation For the Sale of Securities to Clients

Supervised persons licensed to accept compensation for the sale of insurance products to AFC clients. This presents a conflict of interest and gives the supervised person an incentive to recommend products based on the compensation received rather than on the client's needs. When recommending insurance products for which the supervised persons receives compensation, AFC will document the conflict of interest in the client file and inform the client of the conflict of interest. Clients always have the right to decide whether to purchase AFC-recommended products and, if purchasing, have the right to purchase those products through other agents that are not affiliated with AFC.

Commissions are not AFC's primary source of compensation for advisory services. Advisory fees that are charged to clients are not reduced to offset the commissions or insurance products recommended to clients.

Item 6: Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

AFC does not accept performance-based fees or other fees based on a share of capital gains on or capital appreciation of the assets of a client and therefore doesn't engage in side-by-side management.

Item 7: Types of Clients

AFC generally provides advisory services to the following types of clients:

- ❖ Individuals
- ❖ High-Net-Worth Individuals

There is no account minimum for any of AFC's services.

Item 8: Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies, & Risk of Loss

A. Methods of Analysis and Investment Strategies

Methods of Analysis

AFC's methods of analysis include modern portfolio theory. This is a theory of investment that attempts to maximize portfolio expected return for a given amount of portfolio risk, or equivalently minimize risk for a given level of expected return, each by carefully choosing the proportions of various asset. See discussion of risks immediately below.

Investment Strategies

AFC recommends passive long-term investing via selection of other advisers. This consists most of indexed ETFs. Long-term investing generally refers to holding an investment for ten or more years. This approach to investing is designed to capture market rates of both return and risk. In utilizing other investment advisers, the firm outsources selection of specific securities for the portfolio. See discussion of risks immediately below.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

B. Material Risks Involved

Methods of Analysis

Modern Portfolio Theory assumes that investors are risk adverse, meaning that given two portfolios that offer the same expected return, investors will prefer the less risky one. Thus, an investor will take on increased risk only if compensated by higher expected returns. Conversely, an investor who wants higher expected returns must accept more risk. The exact trade-off will be the same for all investors, but different investors will evaluate the trade-off differently based on individual risk aversion characteristics. The implication is that a rational investor will not invest in a portfolio if a second portfolio exists with a more favorable risk-expected return profile – i.e., if for that level of risk an alternative portfolio exists which has better expected returns. Risks include those of equity and fixed income more generally (described below). Additionally, there is risk that the market price is not an accurately indicator of a security’s true “value” (and thus the tradeoff between risk versus return may not be as expected) and risk that even a well-diversified portfolio may have more correlation than expected under certain market conditions.

Investment Strategies

Long term investing is designed to capture market rates of both return and risk. Due to its nature, the long-term investment strategy can expose clients to various types of risk that will typically surface at various intervals during the time the client owns the investments. These risks include but are not limited to inflation (purchasing power) risk, interest rate risk, economic risk, market risk, and political/regulatory risk.

Selection of Other Advisers: Although AFC will seek to select only money managers who will invest clients' assets with the highest level of integrity, AFC’s selection process cannot ensure that money managers will perform as desired and AFC will have no control over the day-to-day operations of any of its selected money managers. AFC would not necessarily be aware of certain activities at the underlying money manager level, including without limitation a money manager's engaging in unreported risks, investment “style drift” or even regulator breach or fraud.

Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

C. Risks of Specific Securities Utilized

Clients should be aware that there is a material risk of loss using any investment strategy. The investment types listed below are not guaranteed or insured by the FDIC or any other government agency.

Mutual Funds & ETFs: Investing in mutual funds and ETFs carry the risk of capital loss and thus you may lose money investing in mutual funds. All mutual funds have internal costs that lower investment returns. The funds can be of bond “fixed income” nature (lower risk) or stock “equity” nature.

Equity investment generally refers to buying shares of stocks in return for receiving a future payment of dividends and/or capital gains if the value of the stock increases. The value of equity securities may fluctuate in response to specific situations for each company, industry conditions and the general economic environments.

Fixed income investments generally pay a return on a fixed schedule, though the amount of the payments can vary. This type of investment can include corporate and government debt securities, leveraged loans, high yield, and investment grade debt and structured products, such as mortgage and other asset-backed securities, although individual bonds may be the best known type of fixed income security. In general, the fixed income market is volatile and fixed income securities carry interest rate risk. (As interest rates rise, bond prices usually fall, and vice versa. This effect is usually more pronounced for longer-term securities.) Fixed income securities also carry inflation risk, liquidity risk, call risk, and credit and default risks for both issuers and counterparties. The risk of default on treasury inflation protected/inflation linked bonds is dependent upon the U.S. Treasury defaulting (extremely unlikely); however, they carry a potential risk of losing share price value, albeit rather minimal. Risks of investing in foreign fixed income securities also include the general risk of non-U.S. investing described below.

Past performance is not indicative of future results. Investing in securities involves a risk of loss that you, as a client, should be prepared to bear.

Item 9: Disciplinary Information

Clients can obtain the disciplinary history, if any, of AFC and its representatives from the Massachusetts Securities Division upon request. Please also see below for a discussion of applicable disciplinary history.

Dennis Daniel Duffy and James Andrew Miller are independent licensed insurance agents, and from time to time, they will offer clients advice or products from those activities. Clients should be aware that these services pay a commission or other compensation and involve a conflict of interest, as commissionable products conflict with the fiduciary duties of a registered investment adviser. AFC always acts in the best interest of the client; including the sale of commissionable products to advisory clients. Clients always have the right to decide whether to purchase AFC recommended products and, if purchasing, have the right to purchase those products through other agents that are not affiliated with AFC.

All material conflicts of interest under California Code of Regulations Section 260.238(k) are disclosed regarding the investment adviser, its representatives or any of its employees, which could be reasonable expected to impair the rendering of unbiased and objective advice.

D. Selection of Other Advisers or Managers and How This Adviser is Compensated for Those Selections

AFC directs clients to third-party investment advisers to manage all or a portion of the client's assets. AFC will be compensated via a fee share from the advisers to which it directs those clients. This relationship will be memorialized in each contract between AFC and each third-party advisor. The fees shared will not exceed any limit imposed by any regulatory agency. This creates a conflict of interest in that AFC has an incentive to direct clients to the third-party investment advisers that provide AFC with a larger fee split. AFC will always act in the best interests of the client, including when determining which third-party investment adviser to recommend to clients. AFC will ensure that all recommended advisers are licensed or notice filed in the states in which AFC is recommending them to clients.
